

Nathan Brady Crain Bio

Nathan Brady Crain is a full time stand-up comic and singer/songwriter from VT, headlining at colleges and featuring at clubs nationwide.

His observational style of comedy and quirky point of view have made him a favorite of college and club audiences alike; making use of both his topical knowledge, his Vermont upbringing, and his ability to think around corners with the constant application of the question “What if?” His subjects run the gamut from the mundane to the spectacular, from the sacred to the (not really) profane (no off color language), from the cat and dog, inevitably, to Godzilla and the Incredible Hulk, and his rapid fire machine gun style delivery will leave you gasping for air and begging for more.

In short, Nathan Brady Crain is the best comic you’ve never seen.
